Important information to all CATALOG users as of version 01/2008

You use our TecDoc CATALOG, which certainly helps you to make your daily work a bit easier. Our electronic information system, which has been continuously improved, is based on licensed data, which are given to TecDoc by the parts manufacturers to be published to the market.

However, it is well known that the TecDoc CATALOG has been used increasingly as illegal copy. This means that CATALOG users are working with unlicensed data, which is contrary to a professional way to do business. The user fees, which are necessary to invest into the development of the product on behalf of the CATALOG users, are intentionally evaded by these illegal copies.

We therefore decided to protect each CATALOG starting with version 01/2008 with a release code.

Best regards
